ITEM 1. Amend subrule 60.2 by adding the following new definitions:

281 – 60.2(280) Definitions. As used in these rules, the following definitions apply:

“Research-based” means based on a body of research showing the educational and instructional model, or other educational practice, has a high likelihood of improving teaching and learning. To determine whether research meets this standard for purposes of this chapter, research reports must be reviewed for the following:

1. The specific population studied;
2. Research that involves the application of rigorous, systematic, and objective procedures to obtain reliable results and provide a basis for valid inferences relevant to education activities and programs;
3. Employs systematic, empirical methods that draw on observation or experiment;
4. Relies on measurement or observational methods that provide reliable and valid data;
5. Involves rigorous data analyses that are adequate to test the stated hypotheses and justify the general conclusions or inferences drawn;

6. Describes the magnitude of the impact on student learning results; and

7. Includes the level of the review of the study.

“Educational and instructional model” means an instructional model, strategy, method, or skill that provides a framework of instructional approaches to guide decision-making about teaching and learning. Based on the needs of particular students, this may include but is not limited to a specific set of instructional services or a fully developed curriculum or other supplementary services.

ITEM 2. Amend subrule 60.3(3) as follows:

— (5) Staff in service. The district shall develop a program of in-service activities for all staff involved in the educational process of the limited English proficient student.

(5) Professional development. All district instructional staff and area education agency staff responsible for implementing the educational and instructional models referred to in subrule 60.2 shall receive such professional development as may be necessary to implement those educational and instructional models. Such professional development may be part of a district or area education agency professional development plan, an attendance center professional development plan, an individual professional development plan, or some combination thereof. The necessity for such professional development shall be determined based on the framework in rule 281—83.6(284).

Providers of professional development required by this subrule shall meet the standards in subrule 281—83.6(3). In determining whether providers meet the standards in subrule 281—83.6(3), the following nonexhaustive factors may be considered, as relevant to the particular professional development to be provided: English as a second language endorsement or equivalent; five years of English as a second language teaching experience; or a graduate degree in teaching English to speakers of other languages or related field.

ITEM 3. Amend subrule 60.3 by adding the following:

60.3(5) Research-based educational and instructional models. Districts shall utilize with limited English proficient students research-based education and instructional models as defined in subrule 60.2 so that such students may acquire English proficiency and meet high academic standards.
