NANCY REDER has served as NASDSE's deputy executive director and director of government relations since May, 2000. She has more than 35 years of experience in providing direct services to vulnerable children and families, policy analysis in human service programs and nonprofit management. As a social policy analyst, she has worked on a broad array of federal legislative and regulatory issues affecting children and families, including children with disabilities and family economic issues. Nancy's social work experiences include serving as a Title I school social worker, an outreach social worker working with abused and neglected children and their families and providing support for vocational rehabilitation counselors. As an attorney, Nancy served as director of social policy for the League of Women Voters Education Fund and for the U.S. House of Representatives as a senior staff member of the Select Committee on Children, Youth and Families.

Nancy received her B.A. and M.S.W. degrees from the University of Michigan and her J.D. from Catholic University of America.
